

What a pleasure it has been to be able to experience XM Satellite radio. With 100 Stations our family listens day and night. We are very impressed with the weather and traffic reports that we can now receive at home and in our automobiles.

It has been a breath of fresh air to have someone improve radio to this extent in such a short period of time. The educational value is wonderful. Instead of listening to the same stations with the same programming, we now have a choice of 100 stations with reception in more of the areas we travel in.

Please don't let someone that has lost the ability improve the old ways- try to take the easy way out by trying to stop the traffic and weather that XM is providing. Commercial radio makes us wait until they want to report the traffic and weather. We need this information now. It sounds like the typewriter manufacturers crying about Personal Computers taking over. Don't stop progress. Keep things competitive. Should we stop the digital cameras? I see Kodak coming out with digital cameras and improving their conventional cameras too. It can only benefit the public.

Karl Jacque